Introducing January 6, 2021 To Your Adolescent Child

By CS Bennett

In America, the thread that holds the fabric of freedom and liberty together for all is the rights of the individual citizen, an atmosphere guaranteeing religious freedom, and one's unabridged ability to speak their minds. They are not the teachings of collectivism or the benevolence of the US Government. When those rights and freedoms are tampered with or outright removed from us, we no longer exist as a free society. When the government, and those serving the government, subscribe to a dark and evil pathos that is based on corruption, manipulation, lies and the oppression of others, we citizens become the targets of those who wield great power and possess the power to silence us, and even eradicate us on a whim. The founding fathers were leery of this being a possibility, that of an out-of-control government, and provided us with a US Constitution which boldly limited the power and influence of a potential overbearing government with aims of having complete dominion over us.

Over the years, the forces of evil have found ways to erode our individual rights and usurp our beloved Constitution and our laws. They have also diminished our ability to worship in the way we are used to with laws that are aimed at forcing us to accept things our religious beliefs outright reject. This same evil has forced upon us television programming and commercial ads whose message is one designed to convince us, even force us all, to become tolerant of immoral behavior and repulsive alternate lifestyles. The demography they target with great success and near impunity is our young and innocent school-aged children whose minds they seek to mold and shape in a way that serves government, not the cause of freedom and liberty. These children are a captive audience. And they are being brainwashed into worshiping at the feet of Mother Nature and central government, not the true living God who created nature and mankind.

Although our children's generation was born in a country founded by Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Monroe and Adams, they are not being taught the atrocities, brutality, and oppression of dictators such as Hitler, Stalin, Idi Amin, Kim Jung-il, Mao Zedong, Fidel Castro, and Saddam Hussein. Instead, they are being taught to admire and look up to revolutionaries, separatists, and militants the likes of Ernesto 'Che' Guevara, Karl Marx, Vladimir Lenin, the Black Panthers, Marcus Garvey, the Weather Underground (Bill Ayers), W.E.B. Du Bois, Louis Farrakan, Hugo Chávez, and Fidel Castro. So, what are we to do? How can we reach our children and explain to them the fallacies and lies of what they are being taught? I say share the following with them. Not only that, place them in the following setting...

Have them imagine that they were in Washington DC to voice their opinion about an election they believed, and there was sufficient proof, was stolen. Now, have them imagine they are at a rally with the president that the election was stolen from and in at the end of his speech, he suggests that you go to the Capitol building and express yourself peacefully and like good law-abiding patriots, you, and others, do. Imagine along the way, all of the stores and restaurants have their restrooms on lockdown, possibly by the mayor or Capitol Police, and all now walking have full bladders and once they arrive at the Capitol, they are eager to get to the restrooms for relief, so they politely ask to use the restrooms and then they are invited in to do so, and while standing in line, if they can even find an opened restroom, they do what they came in there to do peacefully and on the way out, begin to chant U-S-A, as is their right to do so, and they leave and return to their hotel room. Seems innocent enough, huh.

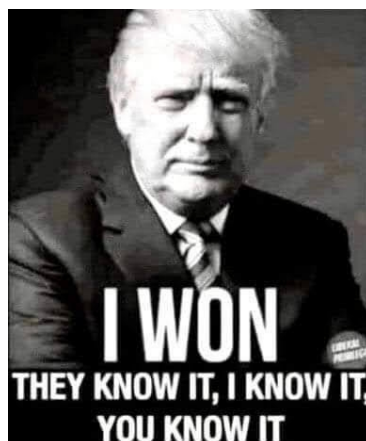

Several days later, your adolescent child hears a loud and pronounced pounding on the family door and find out that there is a heavily armed SWAT team outside with weapons drawn along with a dozen or more police cruisers with lights flashing. And yes, the liberal media is there in force, as well. Once inside of your home, they arrest your son or daughter and then take them away from the family dinner table not to be seen or heard from again. The charges are insurrection, trespassing, inciting a riot, and spewing terrorist threats by chanting U-S-A on the way out of the US Capitol building. And this doesn't even touch on the subject of those on the other side of the building who were allowed into the building, then later severely beaten and gassed and shot at by security, one woman killed for no reason at all. And to think that the police who committed these crimes were never charged, although there is ample video evidence of their crimes.

Yes, place your child in this scenario and let them know that once they are imprisoned, they will be isolated from others, beaten and tortured regularly, for the purpose of getting them to confess to being an active participant in the overthrowing of an election while all of the time, they just wanted to peacefully exercise their first amendment rights and to also use the restrooms. Then emphasize that this is no fantasy, that there are Americans being unlawfully held this way right now, right here, on our soil where so many patriots have died to make man free. Yes, let that sink into their minds and perhaps they may finally understand the trouble this country is in. More than anything, teach them that the suffocating chains of tyranny will oppress them with abandonment if not checked now. They must understand that liberty and freedom are worth standing up for and fighting for. Some thought it so important that they were willing to die for it, whether on the battlefield or an attempt to escape on high seas from a country they found ruthless and cruel. We have what others do not have, and that's freedom, so let's defend it or risk losing it all... Please join me and let's fight the noble fight, the just fight, and the moral fight. If this is the land that you love, then stand beside her and guide her through this. And perhaps, we'll get the chance of living another day in freedom...

PS: If any group of people were lawless and out of control that day, it was the Capitol Police, the DC Police, and other security forces that were there on the scene conducting a royal beat down of American citizens. I can almost say that those doing the beating and shooting were democrats and their sympathizers. No conservative in uniform would have ever attacked another patriot... Never! Well, maybe a RINO who did not like Trump or his followers...

We Should all be Bold and Vocal Your Next

By CS Bennett

Thought I'd add my two cents to this unjust and corrupted indictment brought down on the President of the United States, and yes, the election was stolen. The left has been after this man like a mentally lovesick stalker ever since he came down that escalator at Trump Tower. I don't even have to give you his name. You already know who he is. Like the saying goes, everyone has an opinion. I sure there are those who believe what I have to say doesn't matters a hill of beans to anyone, but I assure you that what went down with this indictment should matter to everyone, meaning all freedom lovers, and those who once believed in the rule of Law, here in these United States. If they should get away with this, it's fight or flight time, I'm afraid... This is a time for us to be united, bold, and vocal.

Anyway, here's my two cents. When a group of corrupted politicians are able to go after, and do their best, as they have stated beforehand was their intent to do all along, to bring down a United States President, a man who is also a billionaire, and can afford the best lawyers, and they appear to be getting away with burying this man politically, financially, as well as ruining his family name, all the while basing all of their accusations on a lie, I have to ask, "What chance do we stand if they set their sights on us and decide to target us, especially at a time we have failed to stand united ourselves."

As I see it, some of us remain positive and hopeful, while others are pessimistic about our future. Thank God, George Washington did not give up the fight during a freezing winter at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. We did not succumb to the mighty British army during the War of 1812, when the redcoats marched into our nation's Capital and began to burn it down. Thank God that President Lincoln did not allow the South to permanently secede from the Union, and thank God Almighty that Martin Luther King never gave up hope for his dream, and thank God Almighty Hillary Clinton was not allowed to reach the Oval Office back in 2016.

For me, this is our time to stand up and be accounted for in our history. It's a daunting task, no doubt, but remember that one person can make the difference. Those who dared to make a difference in our past probably knew all along that God plus one equals a majority... We should all remember this, too.. Know that we have been warned about bad players, and evil minds, as well as intrusive and oppressive governments, and from great philosophers of our times, as well as the troubled founders of this country, all who have shared their thoughts on politics with us across the annals of time...

America's Greatest Fans

America's greatest fans are found among those who have lived with tyranny. From its earliest days, Town Crier Committee members have experienced the greatest enthusiasm from those who lived under the yoke of 'Communist Slavery'—for example, people from Cuba, Russia, Ukraine and Venezuela. People with first hand experience of Communism greatly appreciated the Tea Party's anti-Communist stand which is, to this day, expressed in their signage in the historic district of St. Augustine, Florida.

"Atlas Shrugged" was embraced by many in the 'Tea Party Movement.' John Galt became a rallying cry in those days. A famous quote from "Atlas Shrugged" is most relevant today:

Ayn Rand... anti Communist

Ayn Rand was born, raised and educated in the former Soviet Union. In 1926, Rand came to America on a visa to visit relatives in Chicago. She never went back and became an American citizen in 1931. She was a renowned spokesman for free market capitalism and a champion for individual rights. In the early days of the 'Tea Party Movement,' free market capitalism and fiscal responsibility were embraced and were the focal point of the movement. Rand's book

"When you notice that to produce you need to get permission from those who do not produce anything; when you check that money flows to those who do not deal with goods but with favors; when you realize that many become rich by the bribery and for influence more than by your work and that the laws do not protect you against them, but on the contrary, they are the ones who are protected against you; when you discover that corruption is rewarded and honesty becomes a self-sacrifice, then you can assert, without fear of being wrong, that your society is doomed "

Ayn Rand loved America because of its dedication to the concept of individual liberty. Rand died in 1982. If she were still alive, Rand would understand that the final stage of a 'Communist Revolution' is underway in America and she would declare its free society doomed.

Individuals who have lost their native country to Communism and found their way to America to pursue their God given rights to life, liberty and property are far more cognizant of the dangers America faces, according to Town Crier activists. Three of the newest Town Crier members are naturalized American citizens who themselves have seen the horrors of Communism.

Town Crier activists have been on the streets for the past 12 years. The most popular sign the Town Criers ever carried is pictured below. At the time it was very controversial; today it is simply a fact. The first full year of operation was observed in this publication on May 22, 2012:

Town Crier Committee's Anniversary observed with a brief History of its first year at the General Meeting

TCC Chairman, Lance Thate, provided a brief history of the TCC's activities over the past year to acknowledge the Committee's first year. The members and guests showed interest and enthusiasm for the activities of the Town Criers. The evolution of the signs carried by TCC members was presented. Those in attendance enjoyed the presentation. The sign shown left was offered to members as a proposed sign in a line of anti-Obama signs. It was announced that it would soon be displayed to the general public. Those present appeared to like the bold statement. The Chairman reported that he got the idea when the Democrats, the Republicans and the 'Media' agreed that to bring out Obama's past was not a good campaign strategy. The TCC totally disagrees with them and the TCC plans to use the new sign over the Memorial Day weekend.

By popular demand the Big Red Sign, as it was called, was carried from May 26, 2012 until Obama left office on January 20, 2016. Below are some of the pictures taken on Memorial Day 2012:

Want more proof? Here are photos from June 9, 2012:

TCCR Staff Photos from June 9, 2012

For the past 12 years, the Town Criers have experienced a public willing and eager to participate in Town Crier demonstrations. They would do this by posing with signs in public photo ops. Each time Town Criers appeared hundreds of photographs were taken. These photos were often posted on FB. The numerous postings made it difficult for FB to hide the truth. It could be said that the Town Criers enjoyed almost a celebrity status in the historic district of Saint Augustine, FL. Their popularity far exceeded the city's traditional re-enactors and the numerous pirates that would appear in costume in the central city. It is apparent with the emergence of the new year 2023 that that relationship has been altered; it's not that they oppose the Town Criers or even push back. They just made a concerted effort to ignore the presence of the Town Criers. This behavior is such a departure from the norm, Tea Party activists can only conclude that the national middle class focus group, which changes daily and appears on Saint George Street, is traumatized. [See TCCR Vol 12 No 06 March 26, 2023 Ed]

Town Crier's last appearance on Saint George Street was prior to President Trump's actual arrest in New York. There are reports that Trump's popularity has greatly increased since the arrest and indictment. Proof of the interest in President Trump can be measured by the amount of money raised since Trump's court appearance—some 20 million dollars as of this writing.

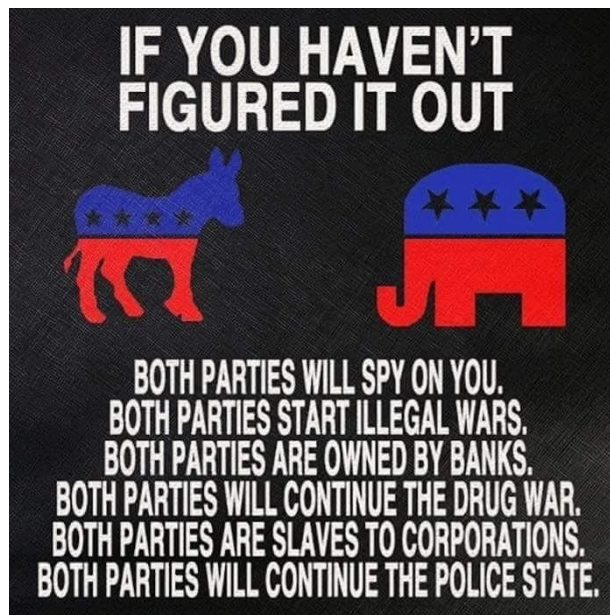

TCC Chairman, Lance Thate, has proposed another encounter with the public in the very near future. The Town Criers are interested in the public's response to a positive Trump sign. Will the people overcome their fear and support President Trump as they have in the past? The question must have an answer. A new "Big Red Sign" has been created. Thate has proposed that no other than George Washington carry the sign on St. George Street. [Johnny Coe Counts Ed]

If Americans continue to display the kind of behavior they did on March 26, 2023, then America is no longer the "Land of the Free and Home of the Brave." Nikita Khrushchev's prediction of some 60 years ago is upon us: "Your children's children will live under communism. You Americans are so gullible...you won't need Russia to destroy you. You will destroy yourself from within."
