Is This His Will Or Our Will?

(Faith & Rights & The Equality Of Sins)

By CS Bennett

Under what authority of mankind and under what banner of Christianity, would a self-avowed Christian ever support the inhumane slaughter of one as innocent as an unborn child? What person anointed in the Word would ever profess to such a belief? Apparently, a multitude of them. From what I've researched and from what I've come to understand, thousands of young women a day flock to any number of Planned Parenthood Centers to snuff out the lives growing inside of them.

Bennett Photo

I haven't touched on this subject in a while, but I was moved to comment on this matter as a result of a conversation I was engaged in with a professed Christian friend who held the belief that abortion was about a woman's right to choose. It wasn't even a subject that I brought up. She happened to ask me how I spent my weekend, and I mentioned that I attended a pro-life seminar in Kissimmee, Florida. And that's when things took off. She gave me her pro-choice views, then attempted to justify them by referencing a scripture from the Word that, in essence, acknowledged our free will and that in the end, each person has to answer to the Almighty God for their transgressions. In other words, a woman has this right of choice, whether it be the wrong choice she makes. Well, according to my misguided friend, that's between the woman and God. She also made it a point to say that all sin is equal, that there is no little or big sin. This was the position she had chosen to defend her views on. It was something I believed, and knew for sure, was indefensible.

It mattered not that I described to her the brutality of some of these abortions, much of it rivaling the Nazi torture chambers, and the guilt women later had after largely been coaxed into doing this. It mattered not to her that I explained to her the evil behind Margaret Sanger's goal of eradicating Blacks from the planet. It mattered not that young childbearing-aged women forced into the sex trade business were also being forced into having numerous abortions after becoming repeatedly impregnated by men they did not know but were forced on them. Health-wise, these women suffered great emotional harm and internal damage from these abortions. Few, if ever, talk about the harm this industry has done to the workers inside these slaughter centers, many who are depressed to the point of contemplating suicide, while others cannot tolerate the sound of a vacuum cleaner at home because it reminds them of the sights and sounds, and the tools used, in the slaughter trade they once worked in. It mattered not to my misguided friend that I told her there were numerous alternatives to killing these innocent lives, like adoption or dropping them off at a fire-station or hospital. She wasn't hearing any of this. Her theme of this being a woman's rights issue remained firm. I had to conclude this person I had come to know was one unforgiving hardcore feminist. Whatever happened to being my brother's keeper...

Undaunted, I asked her if it was alright with her if we were all allowed to do whatever we believed we had a right to do, as long as we justified our actions, and then not be concerned about whether it was right or wrong until Judgment Day? I then added, "Why should we even bother to have a criminal justice system if this was the way we were going to view life and society?" Her response was that bad people out there causing harm to others ought to be held accountable and placed in prison. Then, not to my surprise, she added, "But I do not believe in the death sentence." Now, what's wrong with this picture and this woman's line of reasoning, I ask? She has no problem sparing the life of an adjudicated criminal, but she supports this notion of a woman's right to sentence their unborn to death. How could this be the mindset of a true Christian woman, I pondered? And how could such a position ever be God's will, I wondered?

It is no mystery to me that the sanctity of, life has been diminished in recent generations. Societal, multi-media influences, propaganda laced in corrupted political ideology, and an ever-growing Godless society we live in, have largely contributed to our current views on life, a lot of it by design, and all of it evil in nature. I can understand a nonbeliever having little, or no, qualms about taking the life of the innocent, for they have no soul, or empathy for others, but for a believer to support this abomination, there's no way I am going to remain quiet on this subject when confronted by one. I am going to challenge them on their views and do my best to show them the error of their ways. I am not talking about getting into a heated argument, or shouting match. That's not the way I approach others. I am talking about getting them to realize the fallacy of their own argument.

More than anything, I am going to ask them to show me where in the Word abortion is sanctioned. And then I am going to respond with the following verses below that covers the full spectrum of the sanctity of life, right and wrong choices, and our role as defenders of life and the innocent, in addition to this perception that all sin is equal. And then, I am going to leave it at that... Sadly, such people believe they have no role in standing up for life, so why would they think it ever necessary to defend it? My hope is that she reads the following verses below, then re-consider whether she really wants to maintain her current pro-choice position... I also want her to explain to me where this right to abort an unborn child originate from? My responses largely came from the Good Book.

Straight From Heaven Above...

Things Pertaining To Man Such As Rights vs. God's Law

"Therefore, dear friends, since you have been forewarned, be on your guard so that you may not be carried away by the error of the lawless and fall from your secure position." 2 Peter 3:17

"Do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that by testing you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect." Romans 12:2

"But Peter and the apostles answered, "We must obey God rather than men." Acts 5:29

"Every way of a man is right in his own eyes, but the Lord weighs the heart." Proverbs 21:2

"See to it that no one takes you captive by philosophy and empty deceit, according to human tradition, according to the elemental spirits of the world, and not according to Christ." Colossians 2:8

Things Holy As It Relates To Life In The Womb

"Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born I consecrated you; I appointed you a prophet to the nations." Jeremiah 1:5

"Behold, children are a heritage from the Lord, the fruit of the womb a reward." Palms 127:3

"For you created my inmost being; you knit me together in my mother's womb." Palms 139:13

Things Holy As It Relates To Protecting The Innocent

"Speak up for those who cannot speak for themselves, for the rights of all who are destitute. Speak up and judge fairly; defend the rights of the poor and needy." Proverbs 31:8-9

"Have nothing to do with a false charge and do not put an innocent or honest person to death, for I will not acquit the guilty." Exodus 23-7

"Acquitting the guilty and condemning the innocent— the LORD detests them both." Proverbs 17:15

"Rescue the weak and the needy; deliver them from the hand of the wicked." Psalm 82:4

"Rescue those who are being taken away to death; hold back those who are stumbling to the slaughter. If you say, "Behold, we did not know this," does not he who weighs the heart perceive it? Does not he who keeps watch over your soul know it, and will he not repay man according to his work?" Proverbs 24:11-12

"Speak up for those who cannot speak for themselves, for the rights of all who are destitute.

"Proverbs 31:8

Things Holy As It Relates To Abortion

The image of God in man also means that murder is a most heinous crime. Declaring, in effect, “Whoever sheds the blood of man, / by man shall his blood be shed; / for in the image of God / has God made mankind” Genesis 9:6.

“Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ.” 1 Corinthians 11:1

Jesus told those following Him, “Truly I tell you, unless you change and become like little children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. Therefore, whoever takes the lowly position of this child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven” Matthew 18:3-4 / Mark 10:15.

“I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and curse. Therefore, choose life, that you and your offspring may live,” Deuteronomy 30:19

Things Holy As It Relates To All Sins Being Equal

“There are six things that the Lord hates, seven that are an abomination to him: haughty eyes, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood...” Proverbs 6:16-17

“In one sense, all sins are equal in that they all separate us from God. The Bible’s statement, “For the wages of sin is death ...” (Romans 6:23), applies to all sin, whether in thought, word, or deed.

When Jesus spoke of his second coming and judgment, he warned that among those deserving punishment some would “be beaten with many blows” and others “with few blows” (Luke 12:47-48). He also reserved His most fierce denunciations for the pride and unbelief of the religious leaders, not the sexually immoral (Matthew 23:13-36).

All sins are equal to God in that any and every sin will keep one out of heaven. There is one other way in which all sins are equal in God’s eyes: all sins, no matter how “big” or “small,” can be forgiven in Christ.

“Do you refuse to speak to me?” Pilate said. “Don’t you realize I have power either to free you or to crucify you?” Jesus answered, “You would have no power over me if it were not given to you from above. Therefore, the one who handed me over to you is guilty of a greater sin.” John 19:10-11

“Not many of you should become teachers, my fellow believers because you know that we who teach will be judged more strictly” (James 3:1). This is because preachers and leaders have more power to lead astray those who have been entrusted into their community and care.

“For me, as it stands, when it comes to abortion, the most dangerous place today for an unborn child is in its mother’s womb...” CS

From the Writings of the Rev. Billy Graham (Choices - Right & Wrong)

Lessons about making choices are demonstrated throughout the Bible as they are throughout our lives. God commands us to make choices, but only after providing us with sufficient information so that our choices will be informed ones.

The very word "choice" presupposes at least two alternatives. When Joshua, the great military leader of Israel said to the people, "Choose for yourselves this day whom you will serve," the choice he gave them was between God and the false god, Baal. Before waiting for their reply, Joshua announced his choice, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" (Joshua 24:15).

State of Division

by Calvin Johnson

USA Today Network published an article titled, "State of division." The extremely long article tells the stories of how some Florida residents feel unwelcomed in the state because of the many new laws that have been passed by the Republican dominated legislature. Many of these residents are Democrats and feel the need to leave the state because they are at odds politically.

Johnson Photo

In life I have understood that perception does not always line up with reality and maybe this is the case for many of these Democrats when they feel unwelcomed. Many people do not like what is going on in other parts of the country and are moving here in droves. Maybe there is something to this anti-woke legislation where people can actually sense the freedom that comes from not being compelled to live under the yoke of too much government and the politically correct. Sometimes people have to leave their homes and situations for a time to really appreciate what they left behind. This maybe the case for many Florida Democrats. Maybe they should live in a state with higher tax and unemployment rates. Maybe they should live in states where police are not appreciated for enforcing the law. Maybe they should live where parents have little to say in their child's education. Maybe they should live in states that think homelessness is a right and not a societal ill. Maybe they should live where people are judged by the color of their skin instead of the content of their character. And maybe they should live in states that enable transgenderism and sexual perversion instead recognizing it for what it is, an emotional and psychological disorder that needs repair.

If many of our progressive Democrats truly think about it or make the move to another state, maybe they will realize that Florida isn't so bad, and that the grass is not always greener of the other side of the fence.

A Time for Peace or a Time for War?

By CS Bennett

The following is for anyone who loves freedom and cherishes their lives. This is not for those who worship or serve at the altar of a federal government gone wild and one that has become disillusioned and intoxicated by its power, a power the Colonial States gave them, and we the people failed to hold in check over the years...

Though we pray for peace, we are not living in a time of peace, but rather in times of great peril. And though we go to sleep at night having survived another day, we wake up to a world reeking of the stench of deception, disinformation, and government corruption. Irrationality is never too far behind these three. If this isn't enough, what was once up, is now down. What was once good, is now evil, and what was evil, is now good. Men can be women and women can be men, and if you insist on knowing the difference, it doesn't matter. You are expected to participate in the lie, or you will be ostracized, perhaps even punished. All the while, we are being slowly cornered where it hurts most people, and that is financially. They want us to buy electric cars, but instead of letting the market decide, they make it so that gas prices are astronomical high, and gasoline driven cars are so policy driven now that they are expensive to purchase. In time they will outlaw gas cars as a way to force us into electric cars. Yes, that's the plan. And no, I am not opposed to new innovations, I just do not want to be told, or be forced, by government, to purchase what I may not want to purchase.

When the elite cannot persuade us, or coerce us, they find ways to force us into doing their bidding. What they don't like, or feel threatened by, they get rid of, much like they did with the incandescent light bulb, free airwaves when ushering in high-definition television, and even presidents they have feared. Their most coveted goal is to rid us of our paper currency so that they will have total control over us, knowing down to the penny how we spent our money and where we spent it. And if by chance you are deemed an enemy of the state, they will be in a position to cut off your funds with a single prompt on their keyboard, leaving you high and dry. We cannot allow this to ever happen, no matter how technologically advanced we become as a nation. We must retain our autonomy and protect our paper currency, what's left of it. They have already destroyed much of its value through wasteful government spending and by printing more of it, backed by nothing.

To date, some in America, have allowed the government free reign to have their way with us, in a cruel and macabre way, in the vein of Nazi Germany, by chipping away at our freedoms eroding our rights, and bearing down on us with the full weight of government power, this by an elite group of people who wield great power and influence in this New World Order cabal. In times like these, we must do what must be done, legally and morally, but it has to be done with conviction and backed up with action. Prayers alone are but one part of the solution. Each freedom lover must take a stand and with the courage and conviction of the Saints. Moses led the once enslaved Hebrews out of Egypt, which was ruled by a powerful Pharaoh. Mahatma Gandhi led India to independence without firing a shot. Dr. Martin Luther King led the modern-day civil rights movement and he did it advocating peace, while effectively making great gains by way of civil disobedience. Are we any less inclined or committed in our passions and suffering that we continue to allow oligarchs to intimidate us and rule over our lives?

History, and the Word, has shown us the way to defeat evil. We must first expose it, then engage it, and then defeat it. Of most importance, we must have the faith, conviction, and courage to stand up to our oppressors. It helps our cause if we are united in this battle. It may even come down to one brave individual sent by the Father to dismantle and overthrow the Deep State, much like David stood tall and courageous against Goliath. The election in 2024 is it! And it is at this juncture in time that we must draw a line and let government and Corporate America, and the bias news media, including Hollywood, know that we are not putting up with their caustic policies and tyranny anymore. Be courageous like a lion, I say, and have the conviction of Job, and the faith of all the Saints. Only then will we be victorious!

August 26, 2023 RE-PRINT

All Politics is Local is a Lie

The phrase "All politics is local" is commonly used in United States. Tip O'Neill, a former Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives during the Reagan era, is most closely associated with this phrase as he, on occasion, brought national political issues to the local level to challenge his opposition. Another take on the phrase considers that the "local" refers to the fact that politicians need to develop local backroom political skills to further their careers to higher office. The Republican Party takes it to a whole new level—you need to earn your right to office by loyal dedication to the party.

FB Image

The idea that people can join the party, i.e., joining the executive committees, to exact change locally and that candidates win favor at precinct level is a fallacy. Local Executive Committees are controlled by the State Committees with a set of rules and money. The State Committees are controlled by the National Committee. One only needs to follow the money.

The truth is the leadership is progressive and there is no room for conservative values in either party. The current political parties are like the two sides of a coin and the coin is progressive—two systems of corruption, if you will. The choice Americans have at the polls, whether Democrat or Republican, is the choice of which poison they wish to take. If a grassroots candidate squeaks through or if an unvetted candidate who cannot be controlled, such as Donald J. Trump, wins...LOOK OUT. The Dems steal the election in the urban centers with the Republican Party colluding in the criminal deed.

FB Image

The greatest enemy to either party's leadership are grassroots movements.

The 'Tea Party Movement' burst onto the political scene about 14 years ago. Unknown millions of enthusiastic patriots determined to make a change, began their work in rallies across America. They were very naive and very idealistic. They were primarily fiscal conservatives longing to return to constitutional governance. They were terrified of the transformation of the Democrat Party and Barack Obama's transformation of America itself.

Naively, they thought all they had to do is elect Republicans who would restore the Constitution and fiscal responsibility. Initially, few understood the depth of the resistance to their cause.

The SATP in St. Johns County, Florida was organized by Republicans in 2010. The St. Johns County Republican Executive Committee (SJCREC) saw the enthusiastic SATP Tea Party members as “Worker Bees” for the sole purpose of electing GOP candidates whether they championed the Tea Party’s grassroots values or not. SATP members saw a calling greater than serving the GOP. As punishment for their extracurricular activities, SJCREC operatives attacked the SATP with their bag of dirty tricks. Cord Byrd, a “Pro Bono” Jacksonville attorney for the SJCREC operatives, attempted to separate Tea Party members from the organization they served. Byrd repetitively served ‘Cease and Desist’ orders on the leadership of the SATP. Byrd's efforts failed. The number one foe of the SATP during the first five years or so was the Republican Party.

As his reward for party loyalty, Cord Byrd went on to be appointed to the position of Secretary of State by Governor Ron DeSantis. Then, opportunity presented itself for DeSantis to appoint three county commissioners in St. Johns County. DeSantis bowed to the dictates of the RPOF, local suggestions were ignored and the land development interests of the Hutson family prevailed.

There are 67 counties in the State of Florida and all County RECs are controlled by the RPOF. We are using St. Johns County as an illustrative example. The County is about 80% registered Republicans and conservative by nature. Thus, Tea Party members wonder why the board members of the local SJCREC are predominantly progressive? Why would they attack a Tea Party they organized? And while we're at it, why would the SJCREC attack the Republican Liberty Caucus (RLC), an organization, whose main function is to preserve the Constitution of the United States? The RLC has been trying to reform the Republican Party since 1991. They are held in contempt by the leadership of the Republican Party and have little or nothing to show for their effort. So if you cannot influence politicians by attending public meetings and you can't win at the ballot box because of the two corrupt political parties' allegiance to the progressive, establishment leadership of the “New World Order,” what is the solution to the crisis that is surely coming to America?

Be Prepared, Be Informed, Spread the Word, Get in the Streets

The current political system will not protect the American people. In fact, reliance on the system will destroy America’s way of life and everything Americans have traditionally valued. If this country is to be saved, it will be the people who save it, not politicians. Given that politicians have not been the answer, why play in their “Ball Park.” The Democrat Party is hopelessly Communist; the Republican Party is not an opposition party. It collaborates and cooperates with the Communist agenda. With the media joining the political charade, large numbers of Americans fail to understand how close the Communist end plan is from bringing down America’s way of life. Patriots, who seek values that prevailed during the greatest part of America’s existence, must stop wasting their time playing in the Republican arena. Patriots have had over a decade to understand what’s going on in America today. It is time to take this knowledge directly to the people. Awakening the American people is far more important than engaging the people who create the cesspool that some call the “Deep State” or the “Swamp.” For motivation, a good starting point is the realization that “All Politics is Local” is a Lie.
