Big Red Sign

Obama is a Communist

Former St Augustine Tea Party Chairman Lance Thate recalls how the Big Red Sign came into being in the streets of the historic district of St Augustine, Florida. It was clear from the beginning of Obama’s emergence that he was a full blown Communist. One only had to look at his background. His father was a Communist, his Mother was a Communist, his grandparents were Communists, his mentor, Frank Marshal Davis, was a Communist and Obama had a 20 year connection with Soviet-styled “Liberation Theology”.

By 2012 most Tea Party members understood that Obama was a Communist. But did the general public understand that? Did the people understand that the President of the United States was a Communist? The politicians and the MSM were not providing the answers. This was the environment that existed when the Tea Party first asked the question.

Why is this important today? Because Obama is still playing the game through Biden for the globalist financial interests.

Thate recalls, “I had no idea how the public would respond when I presented the sign on Memorial Day, 2012. The original sign was a temporary sign and we were prepared to put it in a garbage can if it was TCCR Staff Photos not well received. The original sign disintegrated in a rainstorm in July of 2012. Several generations of signs were created to take us to January 20, 2017. We invite you to check out our second video production titled the “Big Red Sign”.

Conversations in the Streets: Nikki Haley & Harvard; Black Confederate Soldiers

Dear Ms. Lunelle,

On this morning of February 24, 2024, I would don the uniform of the Southern Soldier and make my way down Highway 29 South into Spartanburg, County and post the Southern Cross alongside the road.

Not long afterward, a car with New Jersey license plates would park and an elderly White man and woman would come to where I stood.

"Good morning Sir, I am Hank, and this is my wife Sophia. We never imagined that we would ever see anyone with that flag let alone a Black man on the side of the road at the break of dawn don in the Confederate uniform. I want you to know that I am in no way offended."

My great-grandfather told me a story that was told to him by his grandfather. "He said that as the Confederate forces were charging the Union ranks, one of their men, his best friend was shot and left for dead. As it turns out a Confederate soldier heard his moaning. He would stop, bandage him up, reach into his mess and leave a blanket and water. Later that day Union forces would pick him up. He never forgot the kindness of that Rebel soldier who saved his life. And we don't agree with the Isis-Taliban behavior of tearing down Memorials and name places here in the South of these brave men and arguably women. I told my wife that you were probably here because its Black History Month. However, she said it was voting going on today and that you might be reminding South Carolinians about what Nikki Haley did by giving momentum to the naysayers when she removed the Battle flag from the Confederate Memorial in Columbia after it was promised by the Legislative Body after taking it off the Capitol Dome never to be removed again."

I gently pushed him aside and hugged his wife. He asked me if I accepted donations. She did not wait for me to reply handing me $40.00 and telling me to "be careful."

As they waved goodbye another car pulled up with Massachusetts license plates. I thought to myself..."sure are a lot of Yankees around here." However, seeing on this morning, seeing a great big smile on his face and his hand extended out to shake mine; my second thought was he must be a South Carolinian living in Massachusetts.

"Mr. Edgerton, I presume. I live in Boston and you were at Harvard University last summer don in your pretty uniform with the Southern Cross, and I was so sad that I didn't get to see and greet you. And honey he said looking at his wife; "look at us now," while giving me a big hug! "HK, I want you to know that a lot of people in Massachusetts love and respect you for coming there. You are a very courageous man, and not to forget the entourage who were with you."

Yes, I said, Ms. Lunelle and her husband, the Honorable Attorney David McCallister. His wife would hand me $25.00 to use as I chose.

About this time car horns began blaring and the Rebel Yell and shouts of my name coming from all directions. I hate that my legs are only about 60% and dictated that it was time for me to head homeward.

It was a great day in Dixie! God bless you!

Your brother, HK

Communists in the Plaza

This is a story that is playing out across the Country. This video reviews Communist attacks on the “American Culture” in the historic district of the oldest European city on the the North American Continent, St. Augustine, Florida. It starts with a Communist Occupier attack in 2011 and ends with the removal of a nearly one hundred and fifty year old Christian memorial that was erected in remembrance of American soldiers who did not return home from the “War between the States”. The collaboration between City Officials, Law Enforcement and the Communist forces of Occupiers, BLM and Antifa, is depicted in this video.

Listen to the hate and racism that those in charge paid attention to while ignoring the vast majority of people who loved their history and traditions. Government officials across America are acting out of fear (at best) or collaboration (more likely).

TCCR Staff Photos On July 4, 2020 the SATP visited the homes of those who gave away St. Augustine's heritage.
