Is the Tea Party movement proceeding to topple GOP?

On today's "This Week With George Stephanopoulos", "Wall Street Journal" columnist, Peggy Noonan expressed the idea that the Tea Party was a new factor in American politics, a movement that doesn't want to usurp a major political party but to eliminate it. Noonan went on to say, "A lot of people may be cruisin' for a brusin'," Noonan replied. "Big difference for the Tea Party now, and say, '64 and Goldwater and '76 and Reagan. In '64 and '76, Goldwater and Reagan both wanted to seize and control and win over the Republican Party. The Tea Party now shows signs of not wanting to win it, but of wanting to topple it over, wanting to do away with it. That is something new in our politics. It's going to get fought out over the next few years."

Local members of the St. Augustine Tea Party (SATP) have, for some time now, held the belief that Tea Party members who join the GOP are far more likely to be absorbed by the GOP than to transform it. And, Republican candidates who run as Tea Party are far more likely to submit to GOP party leadership than to retain their Tea Party principles. A notable Tea Party candidate in the State of Florida that illustrates the phenomena is Gov. Rick Scott. Gov. Scott ran as a Tea Party candidate and during the early part of his administration demonstrated his allegiance to the people who far more likely to submit to GOP party leadership than to retain their Tea Party principles. A notable Tea Party candidate in the State of Florida that illustrates the phenomena is Gov. Rick Scott. Gov. Scott ran as a Tea Party candidate and during the early part of his administration demonstrated his allegiance to the people who elected him. As the second half of his current term began, he started distancing himself from the Tea Party by supporting issues contrary to the concerns of the Tea Party movement. The last time the Gov. appeared in St. Augustine, he totally ignored the Tea Party presence. [See "Governor Scott Returns to Flagler College" April 2, 2013 in this publication Ed]

The Tea Party escapes blame

The people despise the Washington elite

Public sees both political parties and the White House as responsible for the Obamacare debacle and the government shutdown

GOP fails to take the lead

The Town Criers report that the Tea Party continues to be the hope of the people. The Town Criers, once again, appeared in the historic district of St. Augustine Florida as they do each weekend to compare the visitor's opinions as to what is being reported in the establishment media. The Town Criers are a committee of the SATP. [See "A look at Town Crier's history" in this publication August 24, 2013 Ed]

There is a huge difference between the Tea Party movement and the Republican Party. The Tea Party supports limited, fiscally responsible and constitutional government. The Republican Party, clearly, demonstrates policies that do not meet these criteria. The Town Criers were asked to comment on Peggy Noonan's remarks regarding the Tea Party toppling the GOP, "We do not believe that is the goal of the Tea Party to eliminate the Republicans. Tea party Republicans such as Ted Cruz are not there to fracture and cause discourse within the party. Tea Party activists are not, by design, out to destroy the GOP. Having said that, we believe that the GOP and the Democratic Party will be reduced to minority parties in the near future. It makes no sense to us that there should be two progressive parties. It will not be the elected Tea Party Republicans or Tea Party operatives who will topple the GOP. The Tea Party Movement is 'in the people' and it will be the people who will reject the progressive Republicans. A coalition of blue dog Democrats, fiscal Republicans, Libertarians and Independents will, over the next several years, emerge into a new majority party. If Noonan really understands the emergence of the Tea Party movement being of, and 'in' the People, then she is correct. The Tea Party, the People, will topple the GOP."

Thrasher meets with Tea Party constituents 2nd amendment preservation act topic of conversation

Tea Party representatives and other liberty minded groups, from each County in State Sen. John Thrasher's district, met with the Senator at his district office in St. Johns County. The purpose of the meeting was the discussion of the proposed act known as "The Second Amendment Preservation Act". They presented the Senator with petitions and lists of supporting organizations. It was clear that substantial numbers of Floridians and, particularly, the Senator's constituents were deeply concerned with the overreach of federal power. In particular, concerns with the overreach of the federal government in Second Amendment issues. A petition was presented to the senator with the hopes that he would sign it. Thatcher informed the group that he does not sign any petitions or anything that will limit his options. He also informed the group that, as Chairman of the Rules Committee, he tries not to introduce or sponsor legislation, as it can create problems for him during the process. Thatcher clearly indicated, however, that he would support the legislation if it were introduced. The Senator stated that the National Rifle Association's endorsement may be necessary for a successful conclusion.

Is Thrasher in line for Lieutenant Governor Position?

During the course of the meeting Thrasher brought up the rumor of his candidacy for Lt. Governor. He revealed that he had no interest in running for that position and that he planned to run again for his seat in the Senate come the next election.

The issue: Is power from the top or "We the People"?

One of Thrasher's legislative assistants, who wished to remain anonymous, listened in on the meeting and tried to make the point that our issue of Federal overreach should be addressed with our US Representatives and Senators, rather than at the State level. One member reminded the Senator that the states existed before the federal government. That the 'several states and the people' is where the push back should begin. Later, those in attendance expressed concern as to whether the Senator and those around him understood the 10th amendment. Or, were they trying to skirt the 10th Amendment issue? The liberty minded delegation clearly believes that it is time to stop the Federal government's overreach by pushing back at the State level. It is clear to this reporter that the issue has only just begun regarding "The Second Amendment Preservation Act."

Wyllie for Florida Governor: A Ray of Hope?

The guest speaker at the open meeting of the Saint Augustine Tea Party (SATP) on Nov. 12, 2013 was Adrian Wyllie, Libertarian Candidate for Governor. Right out of the box, Wyllie challenged the Tea Party audience with the question:

Photos by TCC Staff

Why vote for a Libertarian when that will just split the Republican vote?

Why vote for a Libertarian when that will just split the Republican vote and the progressive Democrats will win? Wyllie's answer was: Both Gov. Rick Scott and Charlie Crist are Republican Progressives. It does not matter which one of them wins. They both love big government and stand for the same things. This statement was challenged by St. Johns County Republican State Committeeman, Bob Veit, who basically pleaded with the Tea Partiers not to 'split the vote' and pointed to Ken Cuccinelli's loss in Virginia.

A Wyllie supporter from Jacksonville jumped up and shouted, "That's not true", or something to that effect. He continued, "The GOP failed to support their candidate because he was Tea Party. The Libertarian candidate took more votes from the Democrats than he did from the Republicans".

Then it was off to the races with a short list of campaign promises:

1. Candidate Wyllie promised to Veto any legislation that was not Constitutional.
2. He would propose the Florida Interstate Commerce Act that would immunize businesses, such as manufacturing, from Federal regulations.
3. He would cut the budget by 30%.
4. He would change the culture of "The government can do anything", to self- reliance.
5. He would stop Influence Peddling and Fraud in government.

Wyllie then stopped and said: "I hate to say it, but I am a politician. I hate the word." Then, Wyllie added a few personal anecdotes of how he no longer has a driver's license. Once he found out that Florida licenses, which have a gold star, have digital facial recognition and are put into a national data bank which can identify the driver in a passing car, he dropped his license. This was contested by Attorney General Pam Bondi. Yet, Mr. Wyllie still drives without a license. "He has demonstrated, definitively, to be a champion of individual 'Civil Rights' and is willing to push back against the growing federal and state, 'police state'," a supporter said.

Wyllie related how the Libertarians helped push for and pass the Freedom from Unwarranted Surveillance Act in Florida. A young man in the audience said that the drones are still circling his house. Wyllie told him to call his local Sheriff and referred him back to the law he just cited, Article 1, section 12.

Wyllie surprised the audience with the statement that Common Core has already been enacted, by a sleight of hand, 'in the night', with the addition of one sentence in SB 1076 which says, "Sunshine standards shall now be Common Core". He chided both Democrats and Republicans for conning all Floridians with the installation of this extraordinarily expensive educational boondoggle.

The audience generally agreed with Wyllie that the Republican argument that a vote for the Libertarian Candidate Wyllie would not necessarily mean a victory for the Democrats. "Libertarian voters are split between the GOP and the Democratic Party, a fact that the Republicans fail to point out," an aid for Wiley said. "Consider that, 300,000 Floridians have lost their health insurance because of the gangsters in DC, and there has been absolutely no 'push-back' from Governor Scott or Atty. Gen. Bondi. Scott should be impeached and Bondi fired," Dave Heimbold stated.

Before the closing of the meeting, Chairman Thate pointed out the Republicans often invite Libertarians and Tea Party members to join their ranks. However, when Tea Party members win primaries the Republican Party often fails to support them preferring a Democratic win to a Tea Party win. John Stevens, a Republican Liberty Caucus (RLC) Libertarian, won the primary election as State Committeeman in the last election. Party elites overturned the election. Four years ago John Stevens was photographed wearing a shirt pin with Ron Paul's name on it. This was shortly after John McCain was nominated. [Instrumental in Steven's removal from the Republican Executive Committee (REC) was State Chairman Jim Greer. Jim Greer was later convicted and confessed to absconding with party funds. Mr. Greer was closely associated with Charlie Crist while Chairman. A loyalty oath provision, at the time, literally prohibited free speech. That portion of the oath has been rescinded. ED]

The Stevens' victory was over-turned by 'nit-picking' Rinos bent on keeping RLC members off the REC board. The former State Committeeman, Randy Covington, won nearly as many votes as John Stevens, but could not be seated because he had been removed from the REC. According to insiders, his removal was for 'dirty tricks' and that left Mr. Veit, who had the least votes. The SATP Chair reached out to State Committeeman Veit, and reassured him that this was not a personal attack on his reputation.

"All in all, it was an exciting evening," remarked an attendee as she left the meeting. "I love being with people who share common beliefs and who are looking for the truth. Mr. Wyllie is a decent man and deserves all Conservative's votes. I'm tired of the Republicans double-mindedness and lack of courage".

Obama Lies

The Tea Party enthusiastically accepted

Today the Tea Party was warmly accepted on St. George Street in historic St. Augustine Florida. The Town Criers introduced a new sign which simply stated, "Obama Lies". The conservative media has been advancing this idea since the rollout of Obamacare. The public readily embraced the idea. "I agree", was heard up-and-down the street as the Criers passed by. Hundreds of photographs were taken. These photos are instantly posted on Internet social networks 'live' from St. George Street. The Town Criers are a committee of the Saint Augustine Tea Party (SATP). [See "A look at Town Crier's history" in this publication August 24, 2013 Ed]

The media is awakening, slowly. The people are already there!

The major media outlets have acted as propagandists for the Obama White House, for the past five years. The 'old' establishment media has done everything in its power to misrepresent the Tea Party movement which was birthed in reaction to Obama Care. The Republican Party won over 600 seats in the State and Federal Legislative bodies with Tea Party votes. Plus, more State Governorships. But then, the Republican establishment turned on their most active supporters in the Tea Party Movement. "They joined their progressive friends in the Democratic Party and are now calling tea partiers racists, terrorists and extremists. Karl Rove and John McCain are perfect examples of 'users'. They are two pilot fish swimming 'point' for the 'shark' called party loyalty. They have a ravenous appetite for votes at any cost. Despite the constant assault by both parties, establishment journalists and political hacks like Rove and McCain, the public has refused to be indoctrinated, stated Dave Heimbold, SATP media chairman.

There's a new voice in town. It's been called the 'Breitbart phenomenon'. Andrew Breitbart, the late street wise media guru, encouraged people to become citizen journalists. The effectiveness of the Internet, coupled with this phenomenon, has been observed 'in the people'. Continuing Mr. Heimbold said, "The people get it! Politicians lie, Obama lies, Democrats lie and Republicans lie. They use up and spit out their friends and the wounded. But the people get it. In spite of attacks from all quarters, the Tea Party retains the goodwill of "We the People". Slowly, but surely, the major media sharks will turn and eat up their own. Rove, McCain, Obama and their lackey followers have had their day in the sun. Night approaches, a new day dawns. Long live the Constitution. The Resistance lives!"

“Are you, or have you ever been, A member of the Communist Party”?

Communist Coup in D.C.? Tea Party agrees!

Before Rush Limbaugh was, “We were”, quips Dave Heimbold, Media Guy for the Saint Augustine Tea Party. “Many of our members were born in the late 1930's and early 40's, before Rush Limbaugh entered the Cold War era through the birth canal. We experienced WW2, the Korean War and the start of the Cold War with the Soviet Union. We ducked our heads under school desks in Civil Defense Drills. And we knew where the A-Bomb shelters were located. So, when Barack Hussein Obama came on the scene, it didn't take 5 years to call him out as a Communist. We, children of the 'Greatest Generation', knew instantly that he was, and is, a Communist. For God's sake, he lectured on Saul Alinsky's, Rules for Radicals.”

Rush Limbaugh said, on his October 15th show, “It feels like we've lost a war to a communist country. It's almost like there's been a coup.” He wasn't taking about a chicken coup (for you who live in Rio Linda) but a coup d'état. For the low information readers, that's when a government is toppled.

The Town Criers of the Saint Augustine Tea Party, felt the new anti-American venom from an unexpected arena; that is, from the National Park Rangers on the grounds of the Castillo de San Marcos. The Town Criers were profiled and harassed five times over a two year period, preceding the 'shutdown', the incidents at the WW2 Memorial and Yellow Stone.

On this past 4th of July, in the midst of a crowd of 15,000 fireworks spectators, four Town Criers dressed in 1776 costumes were stopped by a Park Ranger and given a $225. Federal Citation for not having a 'Special Use Permit'. Smokey Bear, with the Ranger hat, had now become Comrade Obama's police. (See full article in archives of Town Crier Vol. 2 #10.

Strange things going on in the ‘Soviet States of America’, today.

Back in the early 1950's everyone knew about the “Cold War” where the United States and the Soviet Union were engaged in a power struggle for the minds of men and women: like the woman pictured below is from the USSR and lived under the yoke of Communism. It was a war of ideology; good versus evil, freedom vs. communism, individualism vs. the collective.

Never, of those who lived in those days, would anyone conceive that the American people would elect a full blown, unashamed Communist as the President of the United States. Barack Hussein Obama's campaign slogan was FORWARD, the marching order of the Left for decades. Barack bragged that he was the Community organizer. And, for one time in memory, he wasn't lying. His mother was a Communist, his white Grandparents were Communist. Barack campaigned in Kenya for his Communist brother, Raila Odinga, in his unsuccessful run for President of Kenya. And, yes, there is an arm's length of other Communist friends like Valerie Jarrett, Frank Marshall Davis, too long to mention here.

Photos by TCC Staff

No one has ever heard Barack Hussein Obama calling himself a Communist. Nor, did Rush Limbaugh openly call Obama a Communist. Rush said, "It 'feels like' we have lost the country to a Communist coup..." It's like both sides are dancing around the point of the pin. Neither has the courage to call a spade, a spade...and for good reason.

If Obama openly congratulates his comrades on the takeover of the United States, the vast numbers of the senior voters, of both parties, would be furious about the deception and call for him to be removed from office. Thus, he has to deceive the public by conning them with false, utopian promises.

If Rush were actually to say, "Obama is a Communist", he would be crucified by the media and the Rinos who would immediately call him a lunatic, a McCarthyite, and dig up all the trashy talking points from the 50's.

So, I guess it is left up to us to say it loud and clear, "Obama is a Communist", hoping that one day, before it is too late, the Country will wake up. Meanwhile, we will ask you this question "How do you like your introduction to the Communist way of life in experiencing the opening days of Obamacare? Do you what more of this madness?" If not, join the Tea Party or one of the many other patriotic organizations that put the Constitution above mob rule and vote out the 'fellow travelers', from both parties, in the next election.

His Disgracefulness

His Disgracefulness* has decided not to go to the 150th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. That should come as no surprise. He was invited to come a year ago, but can't manage to spare any of his time to commemorate the bloody battle which proved to be the turning point of the American Civil War. The people who planned the memorial event are upset His Disgracefulness* is not working them into his schedule. They are not looking at this correctly.

Gettysburg is sacred, hallowed ground for several reasons. Having His Disgracefulness*, that lying, duplicitous, antithesis of all that is America, trod the soil at Gettysburg, walking among the graves of those many Americans who gave their lives there for what they believed - whether they were wearing blue or grey - would be an outrage and a sacrilege. His Disgracefulness* making remarks at Gettysburg would be like Hugh Hefner being the featured speaker at a Mother Theresa memorial, or Bernie Madoff giving an ethics seminar at an accountant's convention. Only worse.

The people at Gettysburg should be greatly relieved their invitation was declined. I don't understand why they ever invited him in the first place. His Disgracefulness*, that ever-dissembling 'Cloward'*, Marxist fraud, and worst electoral mistake America has ever made, has no business at Gettysburg, for he would but tell some lies and then declare his remarks were on a par with Lincoln's.

If the Gettysburg commemoration committee had asked me to come and speak, here's how I would have begun my remarks:

"Eleven score and seventeen years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now, again, we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure."*

*Words, for the most part, by Abraham Lincoln, Gettysburg Address, November 19, 1863. 'Cloward' by His Disgracefulness, 2009 and counting.

God help America.

Open Letter to:

Unified Sportsmen of Florida, NRA Affiliate and the National Rifle Association

The Florida Citizens Alliance and supporters of Florida's 2nd Amendment Preservation proposed bill invite and urge the Unified Sportsmen of Florida, NRA Affiliate, and the NRA to join the thousands of Florida citizens who have signed petitions and urged their FL Legislators to support this bill. This FL 2nd Amendment Preservation bill utilizes the entire US Constitution, including Article 1, Sec. 8 and the 10th Amendment/ State Sovereignty to protect our God-Given right, guaranteed by the 2nd Amendment. The Urgency is now; the Time is now!

Federal Government overreach affects the right of Floridians to keep and bear arms for self-defense in many ways. Just consider the National Defense Authorization Act, the Patriot Act, Federal Buildings and Ground Improvement Act, NRA- Untold Story of Katrina, Illegal House Searches in Boston, 70 Federal agencies with armed Swat teams, the Militarization of our Police Forces, the Federal Stockpiling of military weapons and ammunition, and the purging of military leaders. When taken together with the recent 2nd Amendment Presidential executive orders, his continuous threats to sidestep Congress, the US Small Arms treaty that John Kerry just signed, Congressional threats to infringe with new gun controls, and NSA tracking Credit Card Transactions, we are rapidly losing our individual God-given rights to protect our life, liberty and property.

The 2nd Amendment guarantees our right of self-defense and the ability to stand against tyranny. We have a 10th Amendment because our founders knew Federal overreach and lust for power would happen and they brilliantly provided State Sovereignty as the balance of Power. The 10th Amendment is clearly part of the Constitution that all elected FL Legislators swore an oath to protect and defend. Ten(10) States so far have passed laws to use State Sovereignty to stand up to Federal Executive, Congressional and even Judicial overreach to protect the 2A rights of their citizens. Nineteen (19) more States had bills in process in 2013. It is time for Florida to take this step to protect the 2nd Amendment rights of its citizens' before it is too late! After all, The Florida House found it useful to pass a 2013 2Amendment House Memorial (Resolution) declaring State Sovereignty to protect our 2nd Amendment. A memorial has no teeth, but why now in the face of continued overreach would the NRA object to putting some teeth into a Law to make the resolution real. AND... What happens when the President, in all likelihood, remixes the ideological philosophy of the Supreme Court to a 6-3 liberal court? The only peaceful answer to protecting our 2nd Amendment and most of the Constitution will be State Sovereignty, guaranteed in our Bill of Rights and the US Constitution. It will never get easier than today for the Florida Legislators and Governor to protect these 2A rights of our citizens.

We urge The Unified Sportsman of FL and the NRA to support the concept of this bill now. The National Association for Gun Rights and Gun Owners of America has formally announced their support.

In liberty,

On Friday November 22, 2013, in cities housing Federal Reserve Buildings across the nation, rallies were organized to raise awareness and provide information about the nature of the Federal Reserve, and how the Fed's policy affects our economy in recognition of the 100th Anniversary of the Federal Reserve Act. The organizers of the event were Travis and Destoni Wilson and John Yowan.

Photos by TCC Staff

Heather Preysz procured the speakers for the event in Jacksonville, Florida. The rally took place in front of the Federal Reserve building at 800 Water St. in downtown Jacksonville. The nondescript building pictured above provided, from a distance, no clue as to the nature of the occupant of the building. One liberty minded attendee quipped, "Thieves do not advertise." Because this event was scheduled for Saturday, November 23, the building was largely empty of employees. One notable exception is the guard on the roof, pictured in the thumb print, top center. Speaking at the event was Libertarian Gubernatorial Candidate, Adrian Wyllie, pictured above in the white shirt and tie. Also speaking was Josh Tolley a national syndicated radio talk show host pictured next to Wyllie. Approximately 50 people were present for the event. Both speakers conceded that it was not likely that the Fed would be overturned by the current political climate in Washington. They called for a new wave of enterprising spirit encouraging people to move away from having jobs and instead starting businesses. Basing the economy on debt and a fiat currency instead of wealth creating will lead to hyperinflation. Both speakers saw the Federal Reserve system as being in its death throes.

The Saint Augustine Tea Party (SATP) sent its Town Criers to participate in the "End the Fed" event. The Town Criers are a committee of the SATP. [See "A look at Town Crier's history" in this publication August 24, 2013 Ed]

What's behind the mask?

Town Criers have met the dark side, Is there a really a different side?

The Town Criers have met the dark side behind the Guy Fawkes masks during their encounter with the "Occupy St. Augustine" activities in November, 2011. During November and December the Town Criers engaged the Communist organized Occupier activities in their city. From behind those masks, the Criers were exposed to the hateful contempt from the Communists and the Anarchists. [See "The Occupy St. Augustine group stages their first event" on November 5th, 2011 TCCR Vol 1 No 2 ED]

Photos by TCC Staff

So why were the Guy Fawkes masks at the "End the Fed" event in Jacksonville, Florida which was sponsored by Liberty minded people? To get the answer, this reporter interviewed the three individuals pictured above. Based on conversation it became apparent that they had some respect for the Constitution and individual Liberty. They saw Communism and Fascism and their opposite anarchism as forms of tyranny. Two of the individuals appeared to be mother and son. They wore the masks to ensure their identity would be protected from the police state we now live in or will soon be upon us, depending on your view. They were really concerned about being photographed. The other individual revealed that he was a member of Anonymous. He has their logo on his T-shirt. According to Forbes, Anonymous collective is a group of hacktivists, whistleblowers, marchers and occupiers set to defend humanity. One cyber-zealot divided the world of Anons [Anonymous Ed] into two camps: "Moralfags and lulzfags. Moralfags attack and protest based solely on issues involving freedom on the internet and in real life," he explained. "Lulzfags attack whoever the hell they want, whenever the hell they want, simply for the bonus of the lulz." The idea of attacking targets for "the lulz," or laughs, is the pattern of an anarchist. Another Anonymous member described the government of the United States of America as having been overtaken by a criminal cabal of foreign and domestic bankers. This union of big business and Government is the definition of fascism. The ultimate proof of this union, among many other indicators, is the banking bailouts first enacted by George W. Bush and continued by Obama and his administration." Assessing the statement, most Tea Party members would tend to agree. However, after a lot of talk about restoring the Republic, restoring the Constitution and restoring the free market, the anonymous member revealed solutions to the problems that are collective in nature. The public good is superior to the individual interests. Corporate reform, for example, is seen as the elimination of stockholders and the corporate identities turned over to the workers. There also seems to be a problem with profits. "Anonymous is not an American idea", a Tea Party member remarked. "Common problems with leftist solutions will not entice the Tea Party movement to the 99% movement. Guy Fawkes masks have become a powerful symbol of global dissent. There is a sinister quality about the Guy Fawkes masks. People who hide often have something to hide. The patriots of the Tea Party do not hide. They are up front with their banner of hope. Their banner is the revolutionary banner of America. The people immediately respond to it. The Gadsden Flag has power," said Dave Heimbold, Saint Augustine Tea Party Media Chairman

On November 26th the Saint Augustine Tea Party (SATP) Photos by TCC Staff held its regular general meeting at the Village Inn in St. Augustine, Florida. The featured speaker was Jeffrey Grey. Mr. Grey explained that his political activist career started with photographing law enforcement officers while they performed their duties in what is commonly called 'speed traps'. Grey was afforded this opportunity as he is an over the road semi truck driver. Mr. Grey explained that many law enforcement officers consider the act of photographing them to be illegal. In fact, photography is not a crime, not illegal and there is a state statute which supports the photographing of police officers as they perform their duties. Jeffrey Grey has expanded to become an advocate of the First Amendment rights. He asserts his rights to photograph law enforcement and also engages in public information issues by requesting information at police and sheriffs headquarters. Mr. Grey and his assistant, Thomas Covenant, provided those in attendance with some of the 'do's and don'ts' when asserting your rights with law enforcement. In addition, various video cameras were demonstrated to those in attendance. Grey emphasized the importance of video when encountering public officials and law enforcement and he encouraged the use of multiple cameras. All this was of particular interest to the members of the Town Crier Committee, who are frequently on the streets and have had encounters with the National Park Service over a two-year period. [See "Tea Party ordered off public sidewalk by Federal Agents" July 1, 2013 and "A look at Town Crier's history" in this publication August 24, 2013 Ed]

The discussion focuses on First Amendment violations in St. Augustine

On July 4, 2013 the engagements with the Park Rangers resulted in the issuance of a citation. [See "Federal Agents Violate Saint Augustine Tea Party's Civil Rights" article on July 4, 2013 in this publication Ed] This publication attracted the attention of Jeffrey Grey. As a result, on July 8, 2013, Jeffrey Marcus Grey went to the Castillo de San Marcos and, sure enough, was confronted by Chief Park Ranger Kimberly Mayo. Mr. Grey made an 11 minute video which he placed on you tube. The video has had 7750 plus hits at the time of this writing. It is clear from reviewing the video that Ms. Mayo completely lacks an understanding of the Constitution of the United States and her responsibilities to the oath she took to “Preserve Protect and Defend” the Constitution. The members present at the meeting reflected on the fact that this was the view of the National Park Service before mass media exposure. <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FXROF2mPF4A>

According to an anonymous source within the National Park Service, their office at the Castillo de San Marcos was overwhelmed with complaints. The Town Crier personnel at the Tea Party meeting reflected on their experience with the public and the First Amendment. “Nothing raises the anger of the public quicker than law enforcement infringing on free speech,” they said. The local print media, The St. Augustine Record, refused to cover this story. “The progressive media’s understanding of the First Amendment, apparently, is their view only and suppression of all others,” said SATP Media Chairman, Dave Heimbold.

A meeting between the Saint Augustine Tea Party and the National Park Service resulted in the re-establishment of the majority of the Fort grounds, in blue, as First Amendment Area in St. Augustine Florida.

A small group of people stood up and defied unconstitutional Department of Interior regulations. The SATP’s featured speaker was one of those who resisted. [See article in this publication “The Fort Falls without Firing a Shot” dated 8-1-13 Ed] It was reported that there were six new, first time visitors present for Mr. Grey’s presentation.

It was clear that all enjoyed revisiting the efforts to maintain liberty at the Castillo de San Marcos. The victory in St. Augustine preceded the assault in D.C., by the National Park Service on our World War II veterans, weeks later. Congressman DeSantis has addressed this issue by requesting an explanation, from the Department of the Interior, as to why they harassed the Tea Party at the Castillo. A Tea Party spokesman concluded this interview with the following words: “It is time to push back. Tyranny is at our doorstep. It is time to push back. We can no longer remain silent. It is time to stand up and demand a government that respects the Constitution of the United States. The Thanksgiving Season is nearly here. We reflect on our blessings and thank Providence who has given us the task to awaken America. We are engaged in a great struggle, it is time to push back tyranny wherever it raises its ugly head.”

The Messiah is toast

Today, the day after Black Friday, St. George Street in the historic district of St. Augustine Florida was flooded with people beginning their celebration of the holiday season. Gray skies and temperatures near 60 caused them to bundle up in sweaters and jackets. But, their spirits swelled at the site of the Tea Party presence. It's thumbs up for the Tea Party, as pictured in the center photo above, as the approval for the Messiah in the White House plummets. "The Messiah is toast," the Town Criers announced. "Obama lies" is almost the universal opinion

Of course there are a few Obama faithful. They start out with, "Why don't you get a life?" Crier answers, "I have one. It's to stamp out the 100 years of progressive ideas." Obama faithful replies angrily with, "You people just hate gays." Crier responds, "Have you ever in your life had an original thought?" "Of course, I've had many," is the reply. Town Crier, "Then why do you respond with talking points?" This reporter actually heard this dialogue today. "This is the kind of discussion which is prevalent when dealing with Marxists. Their conversations are with talking points usually irrelevant to the question at hand and they hide behind political correctness. This is true even in the hallowed halls of academia. It is our job to expose them," a Town Crier stated. According to the Criers, more photographs were taken today than at any time in their experience. This reporter witnessed a continual procession of people eager to take photographs and share them on the social media network.

The woman pictured with her daughter, between the two Town Criers is Ana Rios. [Picture on right] Ms. Rios was born in Cuba and has lived under its communist tyranny. She was attracted to the sign and is greatly concerned with the communists so prevalent in America. She recently returned to Cuba to visit her family. She was shocked at the extreme level of poverty the communist system has produced there. While there, she took pictures of a ration coupon book. "If Obama is successful in his agenda, there will be a lot more than healthcare being rationed," she remarked. [We hope this very personable and knowledgeable woman will share her personal experiences with communism in this publication Ed]
