New Poll Shows Sanders' Rejection

Photos by TCCR Staff

The Town Criers were back on St. George Street in historic St. Augustine, Florida this past Saturday conducting their St. George Street Poll. February 8, 2020 was the first of many polls they plan to do thru the National Election in November 2020.

St. George Street polls are random selection, face to face polling of the National demographic that are present in the historic district.

The St. George Poll has had extraordinary success in predicting, early on, the of candidate's outcome in the presidential races in 2012 and 2016.

This focus poll asked the tourists from all over the Country, "Trump or Sanders for President in 2020". The results are as follows:

Trump 74%
Sanders 26%

All the leading candidates will be measured against each other and the sitting President. So, stay connected with us.

February 16, 2020
Special Black History Month Series
Conversations in the Streets
Birthday Celebration

Dear Ms. Lunelle,

On Saturday morning, February 15, 2020, I would post the Southern Cross and my Black Confederate History Board on the overpass of Interstate 240 on the outskirts of downtown Asheville.

Not long afterwards, I would find myself surrounded by a group of young people. I must admit that my thoughts were on the upcoming birthday celebration that Mr. Homer and Ms. Judi Price had planned for me later in the day.

One of the young ladies would tell me that she was a student at the University of North Carolina Asheville, and on behalf of a lot of other students; she wanted to say thanks for me coming to their campus with my Black History Presentation about the Black Confederate soldier and his family that supported the Confederate Cause.

Another young lady would comment that she had read that I was forced out of the Public easement at Biltmore Park, and was I going to take civil action against them? I told her that it was my plan to return there, and that I hoped that the Asheville Police Department would define the legitimacy of the Secretary of Biltmore Park's request that I be removed from where I stood in what was clearly the Public easement. And, did they have the right to claim it as they claimed the entire complex as being on private property to legitimize that request?

One young man would ask of me, what is the biggest impediment that I face in my activist charge to defend the Confederate soldier and the Southern Cause? I told him the lack of knowledge of Southerners about the events that led up to the Constitutional act of secession, and how our Southern babies and their parents have had inculcated into their process a false narrative by the Public school system, media, and now Liberal Arts Colleges geared to turn our Southern populous against our ancestors who made an honorable Stand against the Northern tyranny and circumventing of the Constitution.

The lone black girl in the group would ask me how other black's reacted to what I do. I told her no different than white folks. There are those who can't get past the unwarranted hate placed in their thinking process by the so-called "victor"; especially as he makes himself into a hero, discounting the many facts that clearly show otherwise.

Those who take the time to hold a decent and civil conversation will certainly depart with a lot of contemplation that the honorable Southern people , especially the Southern white man has been severely wronged in the historical tally of this era.

What do you think about President Trump, the young black girl would ask? Other than his insane ranting glorifying Lincoln; I see him as a great, if not the greatest President in my life time. And, as I said when asked who I was going to vote for in the 2016 election, I said that I was going to vote for the person that reminded me of a man who walked into a Temple where the money changers were operating, and turned the tables over. I voted for Trump, and shall again.

One young white boy would remark; "Mr. HK, you, Sir, really are a Rebel"! Word, would come the retort from his friends. I would hug all eight of them as they moved to leave.

After about another hour of waving, and returning many pleasantries from those passing by, I would furl my flag and head to Hendersonville, North Carolina for some catfish, fried chicken, and a lot of love. God bless you!

Is America Ready for Mayor Pete and Spouse?

FB Images

Currently, America has the traditional image of a President and a First Lady residing in the White House. If Pete Buttigieg should find his way to the White House, America would have a different image. A perfect situation for the Radical Left's "Cultural War" tactic of "Upside down, Inside out". The Country wouldn't have a First Lady; it would have a First Husband or it would have a First Lady that is a male? It has been reported that Mayor Pete is the "wife". So that would make Buttigieg the first woman President who happens to be a male. The homosexual marriage of Buttigieg would turn values and terms upside down and inside out. This is the perfect situation for the Communist's distortions and lies.

FB Image

This past week, the complicit media has promoted the idea that Mayor Pete was surging ahead in the Democrat field of candidates. The Communist Democrat candidates and the Communist allies in the media delight in the confusion they create.

The Town Criers thought that it might be interesting to see if the American people are buying a homosexual President and the perversion of values it engenders. The Town Criers have been conducting polls in the historic district of St. Augustine, Florida since 2012. The demographics on St George Street have permitted the Town Criers to make political predictions well in advance of other polling sources.

The polls are conducted face to face with random selection. The demographics are national in scope.

On February 15, 2020, the Town Criers conducted a poll on St. George Street in the historic district of St. Augustine, Florida. Pollster, David Heimbold, reports enthusiastic response to the sign pictured here, which simply asked, "Trump or Buttigieg for 2020?"

The Results:

Trump	84%
Buttigieg	16%

The only candidate to receive such a low percentage was Hillary Clinton during the 2016 election. The Town Criers predicted the

What Stalks America Will Forsake This Great Nation

by John Knapp

Of the great many problems, from within and without, facing America, there are five which seem left to percolate in the national shadows. Each of them is contrary to The Founders' original intents. Each of them steals something from each one of us. Taken together, the five of them have the power to steal America from all of us. I'll get right to it.

1.) Article II, Section 1 of the U.S. Constitution says 'No person except a natural born Citizen of The United States, at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the Office of President;...' A natural born U.S. Citizen is born of American Citizen parents at the time of his or her birth. The Founders thought it was so important to the continuity of American Exceptionalism that they wrote this stipulation into the Constitution that no future President might have loyalties divided between America's best interests and those of anywhere else.

But in the Presidential election of 2008, this Constitutional admonition was ignored by both political parties. In the Official Party letters to the individual Secretaries of State, notifying each state of that party's selection of Presidential candidate (to be placed on the state's ballot), at least The RNC noted that John McCain was a natural born U.S. Citizen, as per Constitutional requirements. The DNC letter, signed by Nancy Pelosi, made no mention of such, and pretty much said 'Here's our guy, Barack Hussein Obama.' I have a copy of both letters.

Barack Obama was an interloper to the American Presidency. His tenure was a fraud. He ran for the Senate in Illinois, making much of the fact that his father was Kenyan. To further make my point, in the middle of America's shooting war with middle-Eastern Muslim terrorists; we elected a Constitutionally ineligible President who admitted on several occasions to having loyalties to our antagonists. In what world is any of that sane?

Societies, regardless of political construct, will accept and suffer many ills in continuation of 'set' precedents. With the candidacy (and election) of a Constitutionally-ineligible Barack Obama, the American electorate set a precedent which must never again be repeated.

2.) America has been besieged by an invasion which is its own doing. There are just a few countries in this entire world that are so foolishly benevolent, and think so little of their Citizenship, that they award it by virtue of the geographical location of a person's birth.

In the overwhelming majority of countries on the planet, a newborn baby's birthright is to automatically assume/receive the citizenship of its parents. If your parents are illegal immigrants from Panama, and you were born in Mobile Alabama, then by all old-school common sense YOU are a Panamanian Citizen, too. If you are born on an ocean voyage across the Pacific, you aren't "Pacifian". You are of the same Citizenship as your parents. That's your birthright.

Recently, foreign travel agents have been putting together travel junkets for foreign couples, to come to America the last few days of a pregnancy in order to birth their baby here. As soon as the baby has its U.S. Citizenship firmly in hand, they all go back home to their own country. The U.S. Citizenship is an emergency back-up plan for the child, if needed. President Trump has taken steps to stop this practice. What's the difference between coming here via jet on a birthing vacation, in order to secure U.S. Citizenship for your baby, and walking across the southern border to do the same?

There are legal ways to enter the United States, yet so many ways to do it illegally, politically, destructively. If we are unwilling to control who gets in, America will soon be diluted to something Constitutionally ungovernable, a Box of Pandora's impossibilities.

3.) America knows what a Holocaust is, what the Nazis did to millions of Jews, Poles, and other 'undesirables'; of what the Russians did to millions of their citizens; that the Red Chinese murdered tens of millions of theirs and Pol Pot, and Castro, and Turkey murdering Armenians. Wherever the extermination of humans is practiced, it's a practice preceded by local law. And, this somehow makes it legal?

What rationalization in minds must it take, to overrule what every American should know instinctively in their heart of hearts, is wrong?

Americans have reluctantly acquiesced in the extermination of our unwanted unborn since the Supreme Court ruled it legal in 1973 in Roe v. Wade. We've lost count at 60 million souls, all denied their lives, liberty, and pursuits of happiness. This is the American Holocaust, and it ranks right up there with the biggest ones in history.

Granted, there are abortions that are medically advisable to save the life of the mother. But the vast majority is last-chance birth control for convenience. There is no reason to get pregnant if you don't want a baby to be the result of having had sex. Sane last-chance birth control would be adopting out an unwanted child at birth.

Margaret Sanger was the white American Fascist 'do-gooder' who began Planned Parenthood, and its mission was to dispose of 'undesirable' black pregnancies. There is an un-American connection to be made here, between slavery and abortion, and the systematic denial of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness to specific groups of people. And make no mistake, the unborn are a specific group of American people.

Planned Parenthood has grown up to claim a substantial piece of the yearly national budget, all under the guise of Women's Health. Planned Parenthood is a friendly phrase for what they really do. A portion of what they receive from the federal government is overwhelmingly contributed to Democrat elected officials, to insure the government gravy train comes again the following year. Planned Parenthood is a money-laundering scheme, to the benefit of the Democrat National Committee. Top to bottom, this is Deep State corruption, a national disgrace, this American Holocaust.

4.) America's National Debt now exceeds its yearly Gross National Product, which is the total value of all the goods, services, and earnings produced by all of the American people in a calendar year. This debt is quoted by government bean-counters as currently being slightly north of 23 trillion dollars. A trillion is a '1' followed by 12 zeroes. To make it simpler, a trillion is one million million.

So, reportedly, America is in debt a little more than 23 million million dollars. How do they know? How can they know? If they could account the actual amount, would they even tell it? I'm guessing they're guessing. The National Debt is forecast to rise by more than a trillion dollars a year - per year - for the foreseeable future. Now, throw in the trillions of dollars of looming unfunded liabilities, which is money already promised but not yet collected, and you're talking about Real Debt here.

There are approximately 128 million households in America comprised of an average of 2 persons per household. Doing the math, each 2-person American household's portion of the current national debt is $180,000.00 for every household from National Debt, to National Death.

The Feds can print and/or digitize money all they want, but they cannot print and digitize America's way out of the impending national fiscal wreckage.

5) This one is the big stalker, the one responsible for the previous four: there is entirely too much government. This is the stalker the Founders tried to banish for posterity. In spite of the Constitution, Donald Trump, and Rush Limbaugh, Big Government is thriving at Everyman's expense. It is the nibbler of liberty. It undertakes to be all things to all people. It aspires to be the arbiter of all decisions, and the fixer of all problems, problems they often created in the first place. It is the common thread which should stitch us all together, yet it is the meddling force which drives us apart.

The five counties surrounding Washington, D.C., are the richest counties per capita in the whole country. No wonder, since government workers are so overpaid and over-perked compared to private work force wages. It's been reported that 19 million adults are directly or indirectly employed by the federal government, at a cost of one trillion dollars a year.

The federal government is a job machine. One in 12 American adults gets paid by the federal government. Do the other eleven of us need this much supervision? How much of Federal Law imposed is a result of un-elected bureaucrats....making law?

The democrat party is the party of more government. Government employee unions are the party of more government. When government's rank and file sits down at the bargaining table for more benefits, they bargain with... government officials! It's not surprising, that working for government is a win-win-win, a dream job.

Is it any wonder that the Deep State has come into existence? Is it any wonder why everyone in Washington, D.C. is fighting Donald Trump? Is it any wonder that Government has become its own special interest group, everyone else to the side? When government gets big enough, it makes its own rules. When government gets big enough, it will be plainly identifiable by its widespread corruption. When government corruption gets big enough, government won't be able to see or realize its own corruption.

Government must be trimmed, and trimmed greatly. Donald Trump can't serve forever. Rush Limbaugh won't live forever. The party of Trump and Limbaugh must seize the day above and beyond, to see that government is down-sized, made honest again, and accountable to its limited Constitutional duties. Taxpayers are not the spoils of political parties or Big Government.

The Trump Bloomberg Contest

St George Street Poll: Feb. 22, 2020

A St. George Street poll was conducted on February 22, 2020. It consisted of a contest between Trump and Bloomberg. The foot traffic was heavy on St George Street in St Augustine, Florida, the country's oldest city. The historic district is a favorite tourist attraction for people from all of our 50 states. There are as many as 4,000 pedestrians an hour meandering up and down this narrow non-vehicular corridor, sandwiched in between are shops of all descriptions and colors. Many balconies on both sides paint a picture of a quiet Spanish Village settled in 1565. Tourists from all over the country travel to this middle class vacation spot. This is a random selection Focus poll of people strolling by, eating ice cream cones, looking at tourist maps, asking questions and just enjoying themselves at about half a mile an hour. This is not a

Photo by TCCR Staff poll of Florida locals. The locals are running the shops and the many eateries along the way.

The results of this week's Focus Poll are as follows:

Trump 76%
Bloomberg 24%

The folks on St. George Street, literally, created a blowout for Trump... a mini Trump Rally if you will! It is important to remember that the demographics' on St. George Street enabled the Town Criers to make early accurate predictions in the 2012 and 2016 elections.
